"Red Devils" at Top of Michigans Class C Conference Standings

DEFEAT STUBBORN GAYLOR ELEVEN, 13 TO 7.

East Jordan High School's "Red Devils" moved to the top of the Northern Michigan Class C Conference standings last Friday afternoon when they turned back a stubborn Gaylord High School eleven 13 to 7.

The Jordanites were forced to go all out to beat the fast-stepping "Blue Devils," who are without a doubt the most improved team in the Northern Michigan Class C circuit. Not until the final whistle had sounded were the Jordanites assured of their seventh trimuph of the season. The visitors possessed a trio of explosive backs in the person of Sanders, Flemming, and Drouillard. All three are speedsters and are capable of going all the way at any time.

Coach Saxton's crew, after stopping Gaylord's thrust on their own ten yard stripe, scored first midway in the opening stanza with Whiteford smashing over from the 3 yd. line after lugging the ball the 90 yds. on a series of off tackle plays. Norman McGeorge slipped through the right side of the visitor's line to add the extra point and East Jordan led 7 to 0 at the close of the first frame.

Gaylord's Blue and Gold came right back with the next kickoff and after working the ball to the 35 yd. stripe sent speedster Flemming off tackle on a beautifully executed hand off play to score standing up without a hand being laid upon him. Schreur's attempt to add the extra point was blocked by guard Jim Shepard and the score stood 7 to 6 with four minutes to go before halftime.

Taking the kickoff on their own 20, the Jordanites marched 80 yds. to score just before the half ended. Reserve halfback Sam Milstein tossed a pass to Whiteford from the three yard line. Whiteford was stopped just short on the try for the extra point and East Jordan led at halftime 13 to 6.

The second half proved to be largely a defensive battle with neither team seriously threatening to score although Flemming again broke into the open only to fumble as Ray Gee tackled him from behind.

Big Don Whiteford, local fullback, turned in his top performance of his four year playing career, lugging the ball time after time for sizable gains through the big Gaylord wall. Guards Jim Shepard and Dan Thomas and tackles Bob Thomas and Don Maxwell turned in outstanding defensive jobs as did linebackers Keith Evans and Whiteford.

In winning, the "Red Devils" lost their their second leading ground gainer in lefthalfback Norman McGeorge, who will be sidelined for the remainder of the season with a hip injury. Sam Milstein will be moved to lefthalf as the Jordanites wind up their season at Harbor Springs tomorrow night (Friday) under the lights at 8:00 p.m.

HOSPITAL BUILDING FUND NEARLY COMPLETED BUT ALL MUST HELP

$5883 were raised in the tenth week of the re-organized drive to obtain funds for a new area hospital in Charlevoix, it was reported today at campaign headquarters. In all, $218,634 have been raised to date, leaving $6366 more necessary if the minimum goal of $225,000 is to be attained and a matching (55%) government grant of $270,000 secured by Nov. 2.

A concerted effort is being made by all committeemen throughout the area to obtain enought three-year pledges to reach the goal at a final report meeting tomorrow night in the Charlevoix High School.

Said Eleanor Carson of Charlevoix and Theodore Malpass of East Jordan, General Co-Chairmen of the drive, "A fire recently occurred in a hospital building similar to ours, at Dallas, Texas. It was an act of God that no lives were lost. The same situation could occur here. The money that save lives as well as protect public health."

Committees have been organized in South Arm Township under the co-chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Murphy and Mrs. Harry Sloop, and in Boyne City under the co-chairmanship of Henry Lee and J. R. Porter. To date, campaign committees have been organized in nine townships and five villages.

"Ownership of the proposed area hospital will be vested in the Charlevoix Area Hospital Association, and a member of the Building Fund Campaign Planning Comimttee, "as is ownership of the present institution.

"Whoever contributes to the building fund is thereby a member of the Hospital Association, with no dues or assessments payable. Membership includes the right to attend meetings of the Association, vote for board members, as well as on matters of policy such as locations proposed for the new hospital.

"I think everyone will agree that we are raising money to replace an overcrowded structure with a modern fireproof hospital, adequate for residents of Antrim and Charlevoix Counties, which will save lives in the years to come. The real task, therefore, is to raise the rest of the money needed in the time remaining, without stopping to argue or quibble on details which can be settled in the American way by a majority vote.

Those who wish to make pledges and have not yet been seen by a member of the fund raising committee are invited to call Charlevoix 847. A member of the committee will promptly call with a pledge card."

Half Way Mark Almost Reached In Community Chest Drive

Volunteer solicitors for the East Jordan Red Feather Drive are working like beaver sthis week to reach our goal of $5,500.00 If you have not been solicited it will help very much if you will leave your pledge or money at the Bank with Bill Grauel, or at the Post Office with Jason Snyder. This drive includes everyone in our East Jordan School District.

If we do not make the total amount, each agency on the list will be short as all funds are pro-rated. We surely do not want to down on our share of the Defence budget of $460.00. The eleven national health agencies we are supporting have asked for a total of $490.00 and they need every cent. We also want to be able to give the welfare agencis listed the $55.00 they should receive. The Salvation Army is down for $25.00. These Agencies are working for the general good of our entire country.

The Mchigan Children't Aid society have $1000.00 from us. They are supported by our county as well as by public donation. They look after and cars for neglecten and dependent children, placing them in boarding homes. Fortunately "Orphan Asylums" have gone out with "Poor Farms"

The remainder of the amount, asked for, $ 437.00 is for East Jordan Community needs and we need it all.

The Hallowe'en Party in the High School Gym, sponsored by the Rotary Club, and financed by the local merchants and business men, went over in a big way Wednesday afternoon and evening. The Grade children were served their cider and doughnuts in the afternoon, and the evenings activities started at 7 p.m.

The games and other contests were in charge of Principal Keith Annear, John Downing, Max Damoth, Gale Saxton, with other members of the faculty assisting. There were 13 events run off, partly class contests and partly individual competetion, with prizes for the winners. One contest was an Attendance Contest, the class having the highest percentage of attendance winning one of the larger cash prizes.

Everybody had fun, particularly the spectators, and all went home full of cider and doughnuts.

The fact that the soaping and waxing of store windows has been eliminated the past few years, since these parties were put on, is evidence that the boys and girls appreciate the work and money contributed to give them n evening of fun. And the Rotary Club appreciates the cooperation of the business men in supplying the finances that makes these parties possible. Two barrels of cider over 100 dozen doughnuts, and the prizes at the party, cost about $125.00.

All business places in town included the West Side, contributed to this amount. Thanks.

Whereupon the old shop foreman gazed at a young mechanic, who had stopped his work to gawk, and growled, "Come, come, Orville! You're a motor expert, not a body man—remember?"

Second Grade — Mrs. Bowerman

We were so happy to have 20 mothers, 4 visitors and 11 little brothers and sisters come to our Indian Party. We had our program first. This included a Canoe Song, a tom-tom band, a pinao a papoose lullaby an Indian play which we composed and dramatized and an Indian dance. While the children had a recess period, a teacher-parent discussion was held. For refreshments we served corn bread and maple syrup in little cups on hand decorated plates. At the close, each mother was given a "piggy back" plant which we had started.

We were glad to have Chris Schroeder's cousin, John Benson from Lansing visit our room on Thursday.

Fourth Grade—Mrs. Strehl

Floyd Holley's grandmother, Mrs. Holley, visited our room last week.

We are making plans for our Halloween party this week. During language class we have been learning some Halloween poems. The one we just finished is "Strange Things". Our room is decorated with spooky pictures we have made for Halloween.

In Health class we are learning to choose the right foods which are best for our bodies and how each food has a special job.

Roberta Damoth moved to Third Street last week. Also Jack Collins has moved to a farm on the Boyne City road.

Carol Jean Moore is the news reporter this week for the fourth grade.

Several pupils have received answers from the business letters they wrote to the Chambers of Commerce of all the state capitals. We now have several state maps, many pictures and some information which will help us when we study those states.

We are working on multiplication now. We need more work on our tables.

Last week we had three movies on Michigan. They showed us the beauty of our own state.

We elected new class officers. Perry Bennett was relected president, while Anita Petrie and Karen Jackson became our new vice-president and secretary. We also planned our Halloween party at the meeting.

Mr. and Carey brought us a blackboard cleaning cloth which absorbs the chalk and needs no water. It is easy to use.

Joseph Pienta, Lauren Wycoff, Mary Ann Lehrbass, Janet DeHaven and Thelma Zoulek from Mrs. Liskum's room planned and served a birthday lunch to our room as a surprise on Patsy Zoulek on her birthday Monday.

Sixth Grade — Alma Larsen

We wrote Halloween stories for English. We read them to the class. After we read our stories we drew Halloween pictures.

We are all planning to wear costumes on Halloween. We voted to give a prize to the one wearing the cleverest costume.

Last week we wrote letters to Mrs. Galmore who has been in the hospital.

Most of our room went to Petoskey, October 29 to see the play "Under he Lilacs". Is was very interesting. The star actor was a little dog named Sancho.

Some of us are starting our 4-H knitting.

We had our club meeting Monday. The president appointed new room committees to work for weeks.

Bowling News

The Monarch Foods team stretched their lead in the Merchant's league another point Monday by taking four points from Dip's Tavern bowlers. Fred Schoenfelder, bowling 137 pins over average for the three games, made the Mighty Monarchs too tough to beat. State Farm Insurance moved into second place by scoring a four point win on Ellsworth Electric, who with Sommervilles Grocery are holding down the cellar position.

The Ellsworth teams now occupy both the top and bottom positions with the East Jordan teams battling to get out of the middle.

Max Damoth's games of 200, 208, and 214 for a 622 series, were too much for Sommervilles Grocers who dropped four points to the Canners. Max won himself a pair of sweat sox from Bradshaws Dry Goods for high actual series.

Other winters of the weekly merchants prizes were John DeYoung, high game of 218, 1 lb. of hamburg at Sommervilles Grocery; Don Campbell, low game of 87, and low series of 383, 1 lb. of Epsom salts at Hite Drug Co., and a clean and press job at the East Jordan Cleaners; Andy Anderson for high game over average 64 pins, and Arrow shirt at Chri's Mens Wear and canned goods from Monarch Foods; and Fred Schoenfelder for high series over average 137 pins, ½ gal. ice cream at Taylors Grocery and $2.00 in trade at Jimmie Lilak's Grocery.

The Ladies League standings changed very little last week as the Dress and Gift Shoppe and Sinclair Sales teams each won their four points to stay in the top two positions. The Rainbow Bar and Temple Theatre teams changed places with the Temple now in the basement.

High single game in the league was rolled by Leva Cole with a 191, and Betty Jo Strehl took the high series with a 506. In the team events the Dress and Gift Shoppe took the honors with a high series of 2179.

U-M College of Pharmacy Is 75 Years Old

Seventy five years of progress in pharmaceutical education are typified by the modern laboratory facilities at the University of Michigan's College of Pharmacy. Founded in 1876, it is the oldest college of pharmacy at a state university and a pioneer in requiring basic science cou[illegible] and laboratory work for the education of a pharmacist. The laboratory shown above is typical of the modern facilities now available to the College of Pharmacy which are in strange contrast to those which were in use back in 1876.

Crime in America

Miami: Polluted Playground

As we opened hearings in Miami, it oppressed us that an area so blessed by nature could be so polluted by man. The fabulous coast had become the plunder-ground as well as the playground for America's most vicious criminals.

With the nod of well-paid so-called law enforcement officers, Miami was the winter capital of the national crime syndicate.

A great deal of this has been changed. The senate crime committee's investigation bolstered the efforts of Miami's decent citizens to strike back against the underworld.

Even months after our disclosure in Miami, the lid still was clamped tight upon illegal bookmaking, in so far as any large scale activity was concerned, and many of the gambling casinos run by out-of-state hoodlums were shut down.

Let us begin with the story of Walter Clark, sheriff since 1933 of neighboring Broward County, of which prosperous Fort Lauderdale is the seat. In Sheriff Clark's bailiwick, there were three notorious gambling joints. Among the out-of-state racketeers said to be associated with them—as well as in Miami casinos — were the infamous Joe Adonis, the brothers Meyer and Jake Lansky, Vincent (Jimmy Blue-Eyes) Alo, and bookmaker Frank Erickson (since imprisoned), all of New York City and New Jersey; and, from Detroit, Joe Massel and William G. Bischoff, alias Lefty Clark.

I asked Clark why he violated his oath of office by ever letting them operate. He gave the brazen reply:

"I was elected on the liberal ticket, and the people want it and they enjoy it."

Clark went on to reveal he had been well acquainted with gambler Jake Lansky for 12 or 15 years and that Lansky among others, "contributes to the campaign."

We queried Sheriff Clark about his various investments. He mentioned a good number, but one which he did not name was a one-quarter interest in the Broward Novelty Co. The company, as the committee noted in a report to the senate, "operates an illegal bolita (a Cuban 'numbers' lottery) and slot machine business."

I taxed Sheriff Clark with his failure to tell us about the novelty company business when we examined him the first time. His reply was, "I never thought about it at the time."

In Miami (Dade County), we looked into the activities of James A. (Smiling Jimmy) Sullivan, a former traffic policeman who had been sheriff since January, 1945. The voluble Jimmy, who wasn't smiling much toward the end of his examination, admitted that his assets jumped from $2,500 to approximately $70,000 during his five years in office.

Of Smiling Jimmy's performance on the witness stand, the committee, in its report, had to conclude: "Much of Sullivan's testimony was vague and evasive and the committee does not consider it credible." The fantastic aftermath, however, was this:

After a grand jury indicted Sullivan, charging him with neglect of duty, failing to enforce gambling laws, and permitting deputies to accept bribes, Governor Fuller Warren, in October, 1950, suspended him from office. Early in April, 1951, however, the indictment having been dismissed on a technicality, the Governor reinstated him—just before the state senate was scheduled to take action which observers believe would have made Sullivan's removal permanent.

A tragic sidelight was told us by George Patton, who, after serving his country honorably in World War II, became a Miami Beach policeman and later a deputy. He declared he had intended to be an honest officer but soon "learned that law enforcement didn't always operate the way I thought it did."

Patton said that when he later became a deputy of Sheriff Sullivan, he collected "close to $50,000" in bribes over a period of nine months for protecting gambling on Miami Beach. He was the "bag man," or collector, he said.

Two other Miami Beach hotels had special prominence in the operations of mobsters. One was the Sands hotel operated jointly by Alfred (Big Al) Polizzi, one-time Cleveland mobster and Dave Glass and Benny Street, both of whom had convictions in Philadelphia as horse-book operators. We also learned from questioning Polizzi that his good friend, John Angersola, silently held half of Polizzi's 25 per cent interest in the Sands. Angersola, in addition to interests in the Wofford and the Sands, had a piece of still another mob-favored hotel, the Grand.

Purely local and state political matters, of course, were outside of our jurisdiction, but we had a legitimate interest in Governor Warren's 1948 campaign financing because of a $100,000 contribution from William Johnston, the Chicago and Miami horse and dog track operator, and long time associate of the Capone gang.

Johnston insisted, of course, that it was merely his "strong friendship" for the governor which prompted the gift.

The gigantic operation of the S&G bookmaking syndicate was another major avenue of inquiry. The syndicate, which itself admitted that it grossed $26,000,000 in 1943, was started in Miami Beach in 1944 by five "local" boys.

For a long time, the S & G monopoly over Miami Beach bookmaking was almost 100 per cent complete. Even the then-powerful Frank Erickson, who had paid $45,000 for a three-month bookmaking concession at Meyer Schine's luxurious Roney Plaza hotel, came to grief when he attempted to buck it. Schine, after he broke off an arrangement with S & G and made the contract with Erickson, was visited by Detective Pat Perdue of the Miami Beach police. Schine said that Perdue told him he should not let the contract go to Erickson.

The hotel man made the mistake, he said, of defying Perdue. In two weeks, Perdue raided the Erickson-Roney Plaza book out of business. Next year, Schine explained, the concession was leased "to somebody who was supposed to be associated with the S&G . . ."

There was only one flaw in the S&G's highly efficient operation. It became so profitable that it aroused the cupidity of the prosperous crimesters from Chicago who, in the approved manner of upper bracket-hoodlumdom, wintered on beautiful Miami Beach, soaking up the sun on their daily walks from hotel to horse parlor.

Then, as our Committee reconstructed the story, the ubiquitous and sinister partnership of Guzik & Accardo entered the picture. It is the Committee's contention that Guzik & Accardo acting for the Chicago-Capone Syndicate, dispatched Harry Russell, a Chicago gambler to S&G early in 1949.

Understandably devoted to their $26,000,000 business, the S&G partners didn't want to be "muscled." They declined. The Chicago interests were disappointed but gentlemanly about it. Nothing crude transpired.

Their Mr. Russell simply began building up a syndicate of his own, and bookies at a number of plush hotels, dominated by the Chicago mob, flocked over to Russell.

Next, Governor Warren's crime investigator, W. O. Crosby, appeared. Here things get a little complicated: His friend, Russell, Crosby conceded to us, started feeding him information on various books that he might raid, and Crosby started raiding them. All were places operated by S&G bookies.

Finally came the crusher: S&G was buying its wire service from the local distributor of the same Continental Press that already had undergone the experience of being squeezed by Guzik and Accardo. This service was abruptly shut off, leaving S&G paralyzed.

In just about 10 days, the S&G partners took another look at Harry Russell and decided they had been wrong. They decided to recapitalize their business—though they admitted to us that they really did not need any capital—and to let Russell have one-sixth interest. The price they asked for this one-sixth interest in a business that had grossed $26,000,000 the previous year was $20,000.

At the same time Mr. Russell bought into the S&G for $20,000, the S&G "boys" happened to buy a boat named the Clari-Jo. The price of the Clari-Jo happened to be $20,000, and the owner of the boat—lots of coincidences here— just happened to be Tony Accardo.

Accardo, when we had him in the witness chair later, refused repeatedly to answer questions about it. Finally, however, Senator Wiley innocently inquired, "Who baptized that name, Clari-Jo? Accardo, momentarily off-guard, replied. "That is my wife's first name and my middle name." As spectators roared with merriment, the crestfallen hoodlum rubbed his jaw with the hand that has a dove tattooed between the thumb and trigger-finger.

"I fell into that one!" he blurted.

Guzik and Accardo's 1949 tax return showed a loss of $7,252 due to "S&G Service."

Anyway, the S&G squeeze hit lemons instead of the jackpot. The combination of the senate committee's disclosures and the opposition of the law-abiding elements in Miami Beach finally generated a heat that even the powerful S&G syndicate could not cool off. Abruptly "the boys," without consulting their Chicago associate, Mr. Russell, decided to go out of business.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY...DREW PEARSON

New Weapons

AROUND 1946 as our hoped-for friendly relations with Russia were turning more and more sour, Gen. Omar Bradley, meeting with a small group of congressmen, predicted:

"If the Red army chose to invade Europe right now, they could reach the English channel in 12 days. Nothing could stop them."

Today, this is not the case. The Red army could be stopped at the Rhine.

This change is not because the Red army is any smaller. It still has millions of men, still is completely reckless in its disregard for casualties. Nor is the change because Eisenhower's army is more adequate. Though Eisenhower has done a good job, his army is still pitifully small compared with the Russian.

The change, therefore, is chiefly the result of one thing—new atomic weapons.

Hitherto, the atom bomb could be used only against cities where the destruction of civilians was such that public opinion rebelled against it. Now, however, atomic artillery shells and other weapons make it possible to confine the deadly destruction of atomic energy to enemy troops in the field.

This means that the civilian death toll can be divorced from the atom bomb, and that atom weapons will be used.

Rhine Is Barrier

It also means that the Red army can be stopped at the Rhine or at any large river. Because, to cross the Rhine, an invading army must concentrate at the bridgeheads. And large troop concentrations form perfect targets for atomic weapons. Thus divisions of the Red army, forming to cross a bridge over the Rhine, could be decimated by these new weapons which make the Maginot line look like cemetery hill at Gettysburg.

The above fact, under present-day diplomacy, is something we want the Kremlin to know. For Hitler would not have marched into Poland had he not felt certain of victory; and Stalin will not march into Western Europe if he knows what awaits him.

Ike Will Run

George Allen, the former White House jester, is now about the closest man to General Eisenhower. It was Allen who acted as liaison between Truman and Eisenhower to make sure Ike didn't get into the race as a Democrat in 1948.

Today, Allen, though a Mississippi Democrat, says that Ike is sure to run as a Republican.

Talking to a friend recently, Allen predicted:

"What Ike will do will be exactly what Roosevelt did at Chicago in 1932. He'll hop on a plane and fly straight to the convention."

"How's he going to fly from Paris to Chicago when he's under orders from his commander-in-chief to do a job in Paris?" asked the friend.

"Don't be foolish," shot back the former White House jester, "what's the commander-in-chief going to do about it?"

Censorship

Inside fact about the President's long press conference lecture about protecting U. S. secrets was that his immediate advisers didn't want him to make it. They knew public reaction would be bad.

However, the Defense department, Central Intelligence and others in charge of military secrets urged the President not only to issue his censorship order but back it up—in part to keep the military from setting U. S. policy.

Time after time, high generals or admirals have barged in on civilian policy or disclosed secrets which caused serious damage.

Most important was the release of the Smythe report on atomic energy by Gen. Leslie Groves. A few hours after the report was sent to several thousand newspapers, horrified scientists protested to the Army that the report contained vital secrets by which an astute scientist could piece together the know-how for making the A-bomb. Hurriedly, Groves demanded that the report be recalled.

"That," replied a member of his staff, "would be like trying to put an egg back into a chicken."

Washington Pipeline

Ex-Secretary of War Robert Patterson has notified the senate judiciary committee that he has withdrawn his endorsement of Miss Frieda Hennock to be a U. S. judge. Since Patterson once sat on the U.S. Court of Appeals, his word counts heavily with the senators. He informed them that when he originally endorsed Miss Hennock, he had not realized all the facts now brought out by the New York bar association.

State Police Arrests Show Big Increase

During the month of September Michigan State Police made a total of 8,583 arrests, an increase of 22 per cent over the 7,056 reported during the same month in 1950.

Accoring to a monthly activity analysis compiled by the department, the September arrests included 7,216 for traffic offenses, an increase of 23 per cent over 5,880 for the same period last year. Troppers also made 21,421 property inspections and 3,108 liquor inspections.

Total travel in all departmental activities, including patrol and complaints, was 865,483 miles.

The East Lansing headquarters identification bureau received 7,839 sets of fingerprints during the month to bring the total on file to 3,481,389. Of this number 1,799,228 are in the criminal files and 1,682,161 in the non-criminal.

Through fingerprints the bureau identified eight persons wanted by police as fugitives from justice. In checking fingerprints in connection with 569 applications for licenses to carry concealed weapons, 66 persons were found to have criminal records.

Full Feeding May Not Be Cheapest Way To Beef Gains

Full feeding grain is the quickest way to get a steer to market but it isn't necessarily the cheapest or the most profitable.

Plain cattle, for instance, should be fed longer and more cheaply than well-bred steer of good type, according to G. A. Branaman, Michigan State College animal husbandry authority. He pointed out that there are several ways of fattening cattle.

"Corn silage full-fed along with protein supplement may replace all the grain for plain steers when fed a longer time," he comments. "Yearling steers usually are fed from 4 to 7 months, depending on their grade and quality, and the amount of grain fed. Calves require a longer time to fatten and 2-year-olds a shorter time.

Calves may be fed 2 to 4 months on a limited grain ration, then finished for a late summer or fall market, which tends to be higher than spring prices. Feeding grain on pasture will help reduce costs of labor in harvesting hay and hauling manure. Branaman pointed out.

Wintering calves on roughage, then pasturing for part or all of the summer without grain results in cheap gains. They may be fed grain in late summer, fall or winter depending on the feed supply and the program one wishes to follow.

Under present cattle and feed prices it is possible to pasture cattle for two summers, feeding roughage in the winter. These animals may be grain fed for a short time or sold as grass-fat cattle. "Such cattle should weigh from 1150 to 1300 pounds and are not popular on the market unless choice to prime in finish," Branaman remarked.

Eggs taken out of the refrigerator and warmed to room temperature will give better volume when beaten. If whites and yolks are to be separated, do that when the eggs still are chilled because the job is easier then. Don't beat until you are ready to add the eggs to the recipe, says M.S.C. foods and nutrition specialists.

A man could retire nicely in his old age if he could dispose of his experience for what it cost him.

Agriculture Department Considers New Program for the Small Farmer

NEW FARM PLAN—As a result of a recent survey into the problems of the small American farmer, the Truman administration may come up with a new farm program in the near future more controversial than the Brannan plan and which could become one of the major issues in the 1952 presidential campaign.

The survey was conducted with the idea of learning what the department could do to help the small farmer who is having difficulties because of inadequate land, machinery, livestock and know how. Thousands of meetings have been held in the home towns across the nation discussing crop control, price support, farm loans and other small farm problems.

As a result, a major question has developed: should the government buy up land, redivide it into "economic" or "efficient" units, and resell it to low-income farmers? Also, should present crop controls be extended?

Brannan believes that if productivity of substandard farms can be increased many agriculture problems would tend to disappear. On the other hand, many farm leaders have remained aloof and have not taken part in the meetings, criticizing Brannan's methods more than his objectives.

Two possible legislative proposals may come from the survey: (1) A technical assistance program for the less efficient farms and farmers, and (2) a farm-loan program designed to help such farmers acquire land, machinery, equipment, livestock and the know how to operate efficient farms.

Whatever the final form, any new farm plan, whether it incorporates the government buying and redivision of land or not, is bound to become a major campaign issue. Much of the opposition will come from the farm bureaus who have long resented Brannan as trying to usurp the roles of the private farm organizations and regimenting agriculture.

Meeting Place

Panmunjom, is the proposed site for new Korea cease-fire talks. Meanwhile, fighting continues on the central front with Allied forces making limited advances.

BOYLE RESIGNS—The big question in political circles since William M. Boyle, Jr., close friend of President Truman resigned as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is whether or not Guy Gabrielson, GOP national chairman, will be the next to go?

Boyle and Gabrielson have been under fire as having used their positions to influence the Reconstruction Finance Corporation into granting loans to companies they represented or were connected with. And although Gabrielson insists he will stay on, political observers believe his number is up, too.

In his letter of resignation Boyle gave health as his reason, insisting he had at all times conducted himself with "honor and propriety." He did admit in testimony during the congressional hearing that he accepted eight law cases involving government agencies, at fees totaling approximately $158,000, while serving as chairman of the national committee.

LESS CIVILIAN GOODS—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson announced a cut in civilian goods production, effective January 1, that will be felt in the home towns across the nation.

The cutback in civilian production, 10 per cent for washing machines and stoves and even more in the automobile industry, will provide steel for the armament program which will hit full stride during the first three months of 1952.

The home town that has a school or hospital under construction will get enough materials to finish the project, but there will not be materials available to start new ones. As for farm machinery, so vital to agriculture and home town economy, there will be enough to support production "at a healthy and adequate level."

MIDDLE EAST BLOWUP—There is shaping up in the Middle East an explosion that could be felt in the smallest American community. The situation has developed as Egypt has increased pressure in recent weeks to remove the British from the Sudan and strategic Suez.

As a compromise, the United States, Britain, France and Turkey have asked Egypt to become the center of an alliance in the area against communism, but the proposal was received cooly by King Farouk's government.

This dispute is important to home town Americans because of the nation's interest in Suez, which if placed under Egyptian protection, would be a prize the Russians could take with little difficulty. The British, under present treaties with Egypt, have the legal right to maintain troops in the canal zone which is her economic life-line. She will not back down in her determination to remain in the zone. Thus, if the Egyptian government attempts to remove them by force the British will resist. If the Russians should decide to step in at this point, the world would become involved in World War III.

There is a chance that Egypt may accept the west's proposal of joint defense of the area, but only because she is not in a position to defend herself.

NEW DECLARATION—In a major speech last week President Truman again declared American foreign policy is "based upon the hope that it will be possible to live, without a war, in the same world as the Soviet Union—if the free nations have adequate defenses." And he again offered to "sit down with the Soviet Union" and other nations to work out agreements to relieve mankind of "the horror of another world war" and provide the basis for "a durable peace."

The President pointed out the central theme of America's present foreign policy and defense program: "So long as one country has the power and the force to overwhelm others and so long as that country has aggressive intentions real peace is unattainable. The stronger we become, the more possible it will be to work out solid and lasting arrangements that will prevent war. Our strength will make for peace."

IRAN'S OIL—Mohammed Mossadegh, premier of Iran, who has taken the British-Iranian oil dispute to the United Nations Security Council, told UN diplomats to keep their hands off the dispute and warned "we will not be coerced."

In presenting the Iranian point of view he said there are only two questions open to negotiations: (1) Compensation for British investments in the now nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil company, and (2) possible sale of oil to Britain.

He then made his strongest point: "We will not take action and will not engage in negotiations affecting our internal affairs under pressure. To do so would not only constitute an admission that we are not a sovereign and equal nation, but would eventually be fatal to our independence."

The question remains who will operate the huge Anglo-Iranian Oil company refineries. The Iranians do not have the technical know-how and the British experts have already been sent home. How can Iran sell oil when it can't produce it?

THUMB-SUCKING

A Natural Habit, Noted Doctor Says

Since the beginning of time mothers have tried to stop their babies from sucking their thumbs. It now appears, if one is to believe Dr. I. Newton Kugelmass, noted pediatrician of New York, that "thumb-sucking is as normal as breathing" and is not to be worried about until the child is over two years of age.

Thumb-sucking usually declines after the second year of life, the noted physician observes. If it persists after the age of two, he has discovered as the result of intensive studies, "the child feels unloved, unwanted, guilty, resentful or in need of consolation."

What is the remedy if a child continues to suck his thumb? "Treat the child, not the symptoms," advises Dr. Kugelmass.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 3—4.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Deuteronomy 32:1-9.

God and a Man

Lesson for November 4, 1951

WHEN God created this world he did it by himself. Since that time, where affairs of this planet are concerned, when God wants to do something for mankind or for a man, he seldom does it by himself. He always has assistants.

Dr Foreman

When God wants to raise a crop of wheat he never raises it alone. When God wants to feed a city he feeds it by the innumerable hands of farmers, merchants, carriers of cargo the world around. When God wants children cured of diptheria he does so—with the help of the men who discovered and perfected diphtheria anti-toxin.

Doubtless God could work alone; but just as doubtless, he seldom does. Even when God wants to split a granite cliff in the wilderness, he does not use a magic axe; he uses things we can see: the frost-crystals and the sunshine.

God's Man for God's Work

THIS is also the story the Bible tells. Centuries ago there were some thousands of slaves in Egypt, Hebrew slaves, descended from the free man Abraham. God, we are told, wanted those slaves set free.

How would you have expected God to do it? If God is all-powerful, if he can do just anything he wants to do, and he wants these men set free, how will he do it? Will he reach down a mighty hand and lift them as you might lift a handful of the smalest ants, and set them down on some bit of free soil far away from Egypt? Will he send an army of angels to batter down the fortresses of Egypt, destroy her armed forces and set his people free?

Let us waste no time arguing whether God could or could not do such things. Let us assume that he could. The point is: he did not.

He called a man, a man named Moses. Already Moses had gone through a long life, and perhaps he thought of himself as at the end of his trail. If Moses had been asked, he might even have said that all his life's experiences had gone for nothing. But God knew better. God knew that everything that had formed Moses' mind and character—his family, his training and education, even the long lonely years as scout and sheepherder at the back of beyond,—everything in his past life was to be useful in the most important part of his life that still lay ahead. For God's work, Moses was God's man.

Moses Has Many Opposite Numbers

JUST as Moses was God's personal agent in liberating the slaves from Egypt, so down through the centuries Moses has had his "opposite numbers"—men and women who have brought to pass what (religious persons find reason to believe) God intends to bring to pass.

God wanted the good news about Jesus to be spread throughout the world. But this has come to pass only as Paul and a long line of missionaries have gone through one country after another with the message of God. God wanted the records of Jesus' life, or at least some facts about Jesus and his teachings, put down in writing and not left to men's memories.

But he did not write the Gospels—he inspired certain men to write them. God wanted the Christian world, in our time, to awake to the "open sore of Africa" and to send missionaries to that dark continent. But he chose a man, David Livingstone, to do this for him.

Wilberforce was God's agent for freeing the slaves of Great Britain as Lincoln and many another were in America.

God's Ways Are Not Always Understood

IT is easier to say these things years or centuries after the event than at the time they happen.

Moses at first could not believe he was the man God wanted; tried in fact to talk God out of it. Jeremiah doubted whether he should ever have been a prophet. Lincoln often had moods of the blackest. John Calvin sat up half the night in a Geneva boarding house giving Pastor Farel all the good reasons why he, Calvin, could never be a suitable man for the very job in which he became a famous hero.

Even God's own man sometimes does not realize his greatness. But God knows! And in time we all do.

INTERPRETING · THE NEWS

Streamling of state government through consolidation of agencies with power centralized in governor is the general pattern fixed by the Michigan "Little Hoover" commission.

Administrators would be named by the governor who would become responsible directly for "good government". This centralization of power in one state official has been conditioned, in most recommendations, on extension of the governor's term from two to four years.

To what extent this streamlining pattern will be a political issue in 1952 is quite another matter. Several leading Republican office-holders are frankly skeptical of the wisdom of putting more state agencies under control of the governor with all of the resultant political complications. The highway department is one example; no governor can successfully bid for votes on promise to deliver a road as long as the highway commissioner is chosen by the people.

Governor G. Mennen Williams recently advocated public support for the state reorganization recommendations on the point that the cost of government would be reduced by consolidation of state agencies. This is the plea voiced by Harry F. Kelly and Kim Sigler during their terms as governor. The idea is shared by many voters who think that reorganization and economy are one and the same thing.

A more realistic view is held by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake believes the state legislature has done a courageous job in holding down state spending during a postwar period of ever rising prices. He also concludes that any further substantial saving in the cost of state government must come from elimination of public services — an unpopular thing to do.

Transfer of public services from state to local government merely puts the tax burden elsewhere.

Furthermore, the State of Michigan today is already returning 78 percent of the state sales tax proceeds back to home governments.

For a candidate to publec office to oppose the "Little Hoover" commission recommendations is to risk being tagged with a political label. This label is "enemy of tax economy". The same state legislators who voted for reductions in state spending may be criticized if they refuse to support the plans for state reorganization program.

The hubbub over the cent-and-half-per-gasoline tax still is raising smoke around Lansing. With Fred M. Alger, Jr., committed to an examination of the signatures on the C.I.O. sponsored petitions to put the tax to a referendum, Robert Poe, C.I.O. lobbyist, and Sen. Joseph P. Cloon (R-Wakefield raised a ruckus over the Good Roads Federation lobby on the tax.

carefully to defeat the one-man

Poe said an investigation of the GRF lobby "would make the lobbies investigated by Kim Sigler look like tea parties." Said Cloon, "Put up or shut up." Pow: "The hit bird flutters." Cloon: "A lot of birds are shot illegially."

And so on and on and on. But Bus Scholle, C.I.O. state president, says there might be a grand jury investigation of the GRF lobby methods. Significant: Democrat legislators fought unsuc-grand jury bill.

Michigan's farmers still pack a power junch in state goverment. Witness the atomic action bestowed upon the banning of using rifles for deer south of the Muskegon-Bay City line and in the thumb. They got results. The ban was wisked into law, even if it required a special session of the legislature.

Conservation officials previously had revealed they hadn't authority to enforce a commission ruling against rifles. Also they revealed that most previous violators had been—you guessed it, the farmers.

A new boom in copper for Michigan's upper peninsula may be on the way. The boom will be based on critical need for the metal and will center around undeveloped ore bodies.

Some 1,115 men will be called up from Michigan during December for induction into the armed forces.

Michigan teachers long claiming that the educational system is being attacked by unscruplous forces have their answer. Says Miss Margaret Stevenson, national education association official:

"The cure—is closer cooperation with the public."

When the Michigan house of representatives—over Democratic objections—adopted a concurrent resolution to invite Gen. Douglas MacArthur to address the legislature, Ed Carey (D-Detroit) quipped, "I wonder when he is going to fade away." The legislature officially commended MacArthur in a concurrent resolution adopted last spring.

Preparing Wild Game

Hunters and homemakers who face their first experience in perparing wild game for table use may get some assistance in the task from a Michigan State College bulletin "Good Eating from Woods and Fields."

The bulletin of information was compiled by the MSC Cooperative Extension Service and the Michigan Conservation Department, according to Charles Shick, college extension specialist in game management.

Hunters will get some good pointers on dressing and cutting game animals from this bulletin and the homemakers will learn tested methods for preparing such foods as wild duck, pheasant, grouse, muskrat and so on.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained at your local county agricultural extension office or by writing the Bulletin Office, MSC, East Lansing.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Time to settle...

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employes and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employes Accept

Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employes—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse

But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employes. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employes are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employes covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employes in yard service. The employes can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employes.

Carbon Monoxide Deaths

Forty Michigan people will lose their lives to carbon monoxide poisoning in the next few months unless we all give more attention to its danger, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

Every year about this time, the colorless, odorless and tasteless gas snuffs out the life of a businessman warming up his car in a closed garage, of a sleeping family unaware of a defective furnace, of transients in a poorly ventilated tourist cabin or a young couple parked in a car with its motor running.

It takes only ten parts of carbon monoxide in ten thousand parts of air to put a person to sleep in a hour and to kill him in four hours. As little as two parts per ten thousand will cause headache, nausea and dizziness. Greater proportions cause unconsciousness and death more rapidly.

These are the precautions which you must observe to protect yourself and your loved ones from the danger of carbon monoxide, the Health Department said:

Make sure that all heating appliances in your home are properly ventilated and that the vents are open and without cracks or lekes.leaks. Have he furnace lining inspected to assure the carbon monoxide cannot leak into the jacket and heating ducts, no matter whether you heat with coal, gas or oil. Remember that where is smoke or smell there is usually carbon monoxide, and there may be carbon monoxide where there is no smoke or smell.
or smell.

2. Be sure tht the carburetor on your car is properly adjusted and that the exhaust system is absolutely tight. Don't warm yaur car up by running the engine in a closed garage. Keep a window open when you drive long distances. Close the fresh air intake in congested traffic so that exhust fumes from the car ahead are not drawn in. If you begin to feel drowsy, dizzy or slightly nauseated while driving or riding, stop the car, get out and open all the doors. Have the car checked before you drive it again.

3. Don't take chances on "parking" in an autmobile with the engine running, even with a window open.

4. When you stay in a tourist or hunting cabin, make sure that the space heater is vented and that the vent is open, and for double security, raise the window before returing. A bird nest or leaves may clog the chimney.

5. Don't use a gas or kerosene oven or the burners on your stove to warm up the kitchen these cool mornings. Remember, too, that the snug, drowsy feeling you get when you sit by the fireplace or over the hot air register may be due to carbon monoxide.

If you work in a garage or service station where cars are repaired, be sure that any motor running inside the building is vented to the outside of the building. Don't take any stock in "ozone generators" or like equipment for the elimination of carbon monoxide dangers.

Open all the doors of a house, cabin, garage or car throught to have carbon monoxide contaminated air. If a person has been overcome by carbon monoxide remove him at once to open air, keep him warm; and call a doctor, and while waiting, apply artificial respiration, if necessary.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

Our home team licked Gaylord and down is within sight of an undisputed championship for the first time in quite a few years. That man Whiteford can really cover the ground. The Gaylord team even tried to gang up on him and it didn't stop him too much. Talking of the end of the football season reminds us that winter is almost here. There was another reminder this last week end in the form of a small snow storm in the higher parts of the state. It makes me wish I had my storm windows all on instead of being all off the way they are. Got to get busy, Jake. It also makes me hope that all you fellows over in Korea have your foxholes fixed the best way possible for the cold weather ahead — maybe it's already there. More and more people are beginining to say to me, "I sure hope the fellows over there won't have it as tough this winter as they did the last".

While on the subject of Korea here is the address of a new man on our list who left Hawaii for Korea the first of September. Pvt Alfred D. Hosler, RA 16,366,045, Co I, 27th Inf Regt, APO 25, c/o PM, San Francisco, California. Al enlisted in the Army on March 30th of this year and now is somewhere in Korea doing his stuff for us. When you get this will you drop me a line Al, and let me know where you are and what you are doing?

Another man out in the vicinity of Japan and Korea this week is Bob Anderson. His new address is: R. E. Anderson, ENFA, 433-10-65, "A" Div, USS Bexar (APA-237), c/o FPO, San Francisco, California. He writes his mother that Japan surely is a funny country. The houses are all small and close together. He is based at present on the island of Sasabo in south Japan.

Switching to a warmer climate we find another new man. Pvt. Geo. D. Murray, US 55,186,306, Co A, 34th Med Tank Bn, 5th Armored Div, Camp Chaffee, Arkansas. George went in in August and has been located at Camp Chffee even since. We're starting the paper out to you with this issue, George, and we sure would be glad to hear from you soon. Give us your slant on army like down in Arkansas.

Here's a change of address from a place where I wouldn't mind being for this winter. Pvt. Howard Sumner, Jr, US 55-097-461 is now with A Co, 370th EASR, at Camp Sherman, Panama, Canal Zone.

Dick Misner is home from APO 925 out of San Francisco. I just got a glimpse of him today but didn't get a chance to talk to him. I hope to have more news on him for next week.

Bob Vrondron — out in Fitzsimmons — I'm glad you fellows got a kick out of that misspelling of the word Michigan in the first page of the last issues of this paper. Tell your pal Wilcox that G.A. evidently isn't sore at him about it as he turned his letter over to me. We are all glad that you get a kick out of reading our efforts — homely though they be. You give me an idea, though. If anyone here at home reads this and has a bundle of fairly late magazines and books that they would like to do some good with —how about sending them to Vrondron and Wilcox, D4 LCC VW, Fitzsimmons Army Hospital, Denver, Colo.

Here is a news item that G.A. turned over to me this last week. Cpl Todd V. Walling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Walling of Traverse City, Michigan formerly of Jordan Township, gruaduated October 9th from Machinist Instructors School at Chanute Air Base, Rantoul, Illinois. He is now an instructor at Chanute. Mrs. Walling — if you will send me Todds full address I will see that he gets this paper sent to him regularly.

Cpl Claude Crandall writes from Fort Custer, Michigan and informs us that he is moving out to Fort Riley, Kansas. He will be stationed with the 5021 ASU, Army Hospital, Fort Riley, Kanas. You're right, Claude, a lot of the boys are back in this mess again. We have a total of 85 from East Jordan and vicinity in the service at this time.

Bob Kitson checks in from Fort Campbell, Kentuck and writes: "I am still stationed here at Fort Campbell and it looks as if I am to stay here. I just made my ninth jump last Wednesday which also my worst. We had from a 10 to 15 mile wind which made things pretty rough. We are just beginning our airborne training now which doesn't help much.

We are going to Pine Camp, New York on maneuvers in January and they are sure getting us equiped for cold weather. To look at the equipment you would think we were going to the Artic someplace.

So far I like jumping real well but as for the rest of the training they could keep that. We have been spending most of our time in the field the past three months. I am hoping to get home in November sometime if they lift the resitrictions on furloughs. They haven't been letting anyone go home since we started our field work but we are supposed to be finished this month.

I have met fellows down here from Mancelona, Grayling, and all over Michigan but none from East Jordan. I hope to get down to see Herb Griffin sometime. By the way if this letter sounds a bit crazy, it can be understood. They say a person has to be at least 15% crazy to jump from an airplane." Thanks for the letter Bob.

Richard Rusnell — you should of told me. Dick, who has been in the hospital for tereatment of infection of his hands and arms, has been released (some time go) and is now back on active duty with the Coast Guard. He is now stationed at Lansing Shoals, Naubinway, Michigan. Lansing Shoals is a light station about 50 miles from shore. Dick has inherited the job of cook and seems to have considerable talent in that line. Do they make you wash dishes too, Dick?

Say — does anyone have an up-to-date address for Wayne Pearce?

Guess that's about all for this week.

So Long,
"Jake" Snyder

SALT RISING BREAD CONTAINS NO YEAST

Salt rising bread is different in that it contains no yeast at all—it is started by scalding a mixture of cornmeal, sugar and salt in hot milk to the consistency of mush.

It is a heavier type with a sweetish taste which is a favorite of many people.

Since only a moderate amount of salt is used, the orgin of the name "salt rising" is its only mystery, says Mrs. Ruth Beegle of the Michigan State College foods and nutrition department.

When this cornmeal mush is allowed to ferment overnight bacteria develop, forming gas which causes the bread to rise. This mush mixture is called "rising" or "lightnin" or "emptyings" in various sections of the country.

In the morning, after the water, soda and flour are added to make a thick batter. Then this is allowed to rise for two when more flour is added. A small amount of lard is worked into the dough before the loaves are finished as in any other bread.

Salt rising bread is not mysterious in itself. It should never be confused with yeast starters or even sour dough bread. It is different for it contains no yeast at all.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

ENCOURAGING THE COLLECTION OF SOIL SAMPLES FOR OVER-WINTER TESTING:

Soil testing won't give you all of the answers to your soil management problems, but it will give you information about lime needs, amounts of main plant food elements available and how well balanced these food elements are in the soil, Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, said today.

Knowing that a field was limed 10 years ago doesn't tell you when the field should again be limed. Nor does the fact that 400 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer was applied to each acre of ground seeded to oats and alfalfa in 1950 indicate whether the alfalfa will respond to additional fertilization in 1952.

Soil testing is helping take the gusswork out of liming and fertilization practices. In doing, it is making these practices more effective, resulting in higher yields and making farming more profitable.

Northern Michigan is well equipped with modern soil testing laboratories staffed by trained operators. These are located at Gladwin, Scottville, Traverse City, Kalkaska, Harrisville and Petoskey in connection with the county agr'l agent offices. At the present time there are a total of 40 local soil testing laboratories in Michigan. These laboratories tested 27,000 samples in 1950.

Ordinarily the rush of soil testing comes in the early spring and again in the late summer. There is not a better time to collect soil samples than in the fall before the ground freezes. Samples can be tested during the winter months so that the farmer has information regarding the results to assist in his fertilizer and lime purchase and practices for the coming year.

See your county agricultural agent for instructions regarding the collection of soil samples and the soil testing service for your county.

FEED IS A BIG ITEM IN PRIDUCING EGGS:

Your hens need a lot of feed that is complete in all the necessary food values if they are to produce the top number of eggs, Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, reminded farmers this week.

He pointed out that high egg production also is dependent on good breeding, good management and good disease control methods. But the feed cost adds up to between 41 and 62 percent of the total cost of producing eggs, according to a recent feed cost study, so the feed problem is a big one.

The laying flock should have all the feed it will eat. If you cut the feed supply of the birds you will be cutting production. Cutting feed intake by 25 percent reduced production 52.5 percent in one study, Rebman said.

Fresh mash should be added to feeders at least once a day. You may feed layers a complete all-mash diet, but the usual practice is to feed mash and whole grain. If the latter practice appeals to you, remember to feed the grain mixure once or twice a day. Feed about equal amounts of grain and mash. They can fed in separate hoppers or both in the same ones.

Oystershell or limestone grit should be supplied in separate hoppers. This is especially important this winter when the birds are kept in the laying house. Feed the right mash for the given purpose. If you want hatching eggs, use a breeder mash. If you are producing eggs for market use a laying mash. Either one should be guaranteed to contain at least 20 percent of protein to be fed with grain.

High Production Key To Farming Success In 1952

High farm production will be the key to success in 1952, Michigan State College agricultural economists predicted this week.

Operation costs will be higher, especially for labor, machinery and feed, but the economists feel the best way to beat higher costs is through greater production and efficiency.

Increased production can be obtained by use of more legumes in the rotation, using more commercial fertilizer or by tiling heavy land which is poorly drained but which can be made highly productive. Modern machinery, economists contend, makes farming larger acreages possible, and only through making maximum use of equipment can it become a profitable buy.

Anther method of increasing production will be through expanding the livestock program. Continued high demand for livestock products will keep prices high. Through utilization of roughage—pasture, hay and silage—more economical gains that require less labor can be attained. A mimimum of 25 percent of the crop land in legumes will help maintain soil fertility and provide more roughages for livestock.

The year of 1952, economists say, will be a good time to reduce the mortgaged debt and farmers who do will be in a better position to weather out any period of financial reverses, if one should occur. "A productive farm, free of debt, is one of the best investments you can have." M.S.C. economists conclude.

With pedestrian deaths 'way up this year, school children walking on highways are in greater danger then ever before. At night, with no safety patrol boys to guard them, children who wear dark clothing run a great risk of being hit by drivers who cannot see them. In an effort to educate Michigan school children to wear white clothing when walking on streets and highways at night, Automobile Club of Michigan has sent 10,100 of the above posters to Michigan schools for use during November. Along with the posters went 29,000 lesson sheets and 10,000 crayon coloring-sheet stressing the same lesson.
